LAW COURTS. ALLEGATIONS AGAINST A

SOLICITOR. Mr. Jellett, R.C., continuous of the Master of the Rolls
The Lord Chancellor said the Master of the Rolls would have no power under the common law to direct Mr. Reddy to pay the costs of both parties unless he was convinced that the whole proceedings would have been unnocessary but for the alleged professional misconduct
Mr. Jellett said that was exactly what had happened. The Master of the Rolls stated that the whole proceedings had been rendered necessary in consequence of Mr. Reddy's action.

The Lord Chancellor said there was necessary in consequence of Mr. Reddy's action.

The Lord Chancellor said there was necessary in consequence of Mr. Reddy's action.

The Lord Chancellor said there was necessary in consequence of Mr. Reddy's action.

The Lord Chancellor said there was necessary in consequence of the greatest care and caution in dealing with such a serious matter as a charge of professional misconduct alleged against an officer of the Court. Full investigation must be made before a Court could feel justified in putting the puntitive machinery of the Court in motion against an officer of the Court.

Mr. Jellett maintained that the course adopted by the Master of the Rolls was justified under the circumstances. It was for their lordships to say whether they considered it what he ventured to call it—grave professional misconduct.

Lord Justice Ronan said he agreed that subornation of perjury and treachery to a client, if proved, amounted to grave professional misconduct.

Mr. Peole followed on the same side, and said or false.

The Lord Chancellor referred to the delay which had taken place in consequence of the inaction for two years of the persons in America, and to the difficult position in which Mr. Reddy, was placed. His lordship thought this whole mess arose from the innocent mistake committed by the persons in America not sending over the "book," or evidence showing the relationship of Mrs. O'Kane to the deceased. It seemed to him most unreasonable to seek to hold a solicitor responsible for what had been brought about by a client not exercising common sense.

Lard Justice Ronan asked Mr. Poole if he were sitting in a criminal court and Mr. Reddy was indicted for subcruation of perjury, would he be justified on the evidence adduced here in leaving the case to the jury.

Mr. Poole thought his lordship would.

Lord Justice Molony—I do not think any judge on the Bench would.

Lord Justice Ronan commented on the cryptic nature of the charges made against Mr. Reddy and the entire absence of motive to account for the improper action attributed to him.

The Lord Chancellor concurred in this view, and said why should Mr. Reddy be directed to pay the costs of an action which had not been brought about by anything he did.

The arguments have not concluded

AN OLD CHANCERY SUIT. AN OLD CHANCERY SUIT.

In the Chancery Division yesterday, before the Master of the Rolls, the case of Richard Donnelly and James Sands v. James Crawford and others was again before the Court. The action was commenced so long ago as 1876 for the administration of the estate of the late Robert Crawford, late of Magherafelt, who died possessed of considerable landed property: in the County Antrim. By his will dated 11th June, 1869, he bequeathed to several of his children and grandchildren annuities payable out of the rents of that property, and in previous proceedings in the suit these had been decided to be annuities for the lives of those persons. The will also gave the lands in question, after the death of the youngest of his sons then living, to one of his grandchildren. The last of his grandchildren had survived until the year 1916.

ACTION AGAINST TAXI-CAB

BOARD.

Alderman James Moran presided at the weekly meeting of the Port and Docks Board yesterday. Present:

Mr. John Hollwey (Vice-Chairman), the Lord Mayor, Sir James Gallagher, Messrs, J. W. Hill, W. Crowe, W. Wallace, F. H. Hall, S. S. McComick, W. Scott, D. Barry, R. K. Gamble, W. Hewat, P. T. Daly, T. M. O'Beirne, W. Baird, and L. Martin.

A letter was received from the Port of London Authority inquiring as to whether there was any arrangement between the Port and Docks Board and certain of the railway one panies in regard to an increase in railway rates to and from the port of Dublin.

The Secretary said that the Board had no knowledge of any increase of railway rates. It did not come within their stauutable functions.

Mr. O'Beirne, and he had some auspicion.

Serjeant Sellivan, opening the case for the defendant company and many the management to other management for the plaintiffs. Serjeant Sellivan, Mr. Hanna, K.C., and Mr. Lardner, M.P. WOMEN! Keep your Standards UP!

THOUGH War is said to be ennobling, I personally think it is being allowed to lower the country's standards in a way that is simply wicked. In social life, religious life, business life, political life, more and more of the grand old ideals that made the Nation great and happy seem to be going by the board.

It looks as if only we women can check the movement, and if we are worthy of the great ones of our sex who have gone before we'll begin this very day. Let us show in our life that, war or no war, our standards are as high and our tastes as fastidious as ever; let us talk seriously to our men-folk and persuade them to tolerate in power only men of honour and conscience; let us check the food profiteers by buying only those articles whose makers are determined to 'keep the quality up.'

THE firm of Goodall, Backhouse Goodall, Backhouse & Co. have sym-THE firm of Goodall, Backhouse are straining every nerve to retain the good old standards—they have not only maintained Yorkshire Relish and all their other home products at full pre-war quality, but have advanced prices only when, and as much as, compelled by rising costs of materials. Most grocers know that this policy has made the Goodall-Backhouse products the finest value in England to-day, and are therefore recommending them specially to their favourite customers.

USE OF WHEY FOR PIG FEEDING.

In view of the searcity and high cost of food-striffs mutable for pig feeding, asys the Department of Agriculture, it is desirable that every effort should be made to utilise all by-produced not required for human food that may be produced in the country. In districts where choose is manufactured there is a considerable amount of whey produced which might be used for pig feeding. Experiments conducted in Demmark and America indicate that 12th, (about five quarts) of whey are equal to 1lb, of meal for pig feeding. "VALET" Auto Strop SafetyRazor

Strops itself-Just a few strokes to and fro on the strop, and you have a new keen edge on the blade without removing it from the razor or unscrewing a single part.

Ask the man who uses one and he will tell you that he is astounded at the ease with which this razor is slipped on to the strop, and the wonderful edge that is imparted to the blade by just 10 seconds stropping before

In cleaning, too, it overcomes that taking-to-pieces which is the bugbear of other safety razors. Just swing the blade free, rinse it, and wipe it dry. Soldiers and sailors swear by it because it is the only razor they can keep sharp in camp, barracks, or trenches, or on shipboard.

It is announced that the voluntary rations campaign of the War Savings Committees throughout the country is rapidly bearing fruit, and that the record set up by the town of Keighley has already been rivalled, if not eclipsed. The local War Savings Committee in Shaftesbury, Dorset, recently issued to the whole town test forms for a fortnight's consumption of the rationed foods. Fifty per cent. of the forms have now been returned, and these show that the average weekly concent. of the forms have now been returned, and these show that the average weekly consumption of bread was 3lbs. 14 ozs., meat 1lb. 12½ ozs., and sugar 8½ ozs. The success of the Sinn Fein candidate in South Longford is regarded by all sections of the House of Commons as a very serious matter, following, as it does, the ticket for North Roscommon. In both cases these successes were gained against the most strenuous efforts of the Irish Parlamentary Party, who described North Roscommon as a test of their position and authority in the country. Much greater was their anxiety, therefore, in respect of their position, in view of the coming Government proposals on Home Rule, is rendered extremely difficult. Moreover, they are confronted with the possibility that they may lose their leader. (FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Thursday Night.

The result of the South Longford election was awaited with interest in Belfast. It was generally anticipated during the past few days that the Redmondite candidate would have a severe fight to hold the constituency for the official Nationalist Party, but at the same time it was also expected that, if defeated, the majority for his opponent would not be a large one. The chief interest to Upionists in the result is the effect. if any, which it will have upon the Government's Home Rule proposals which with the Irish bishops' manifesto and the letter of Archibishop Walsh against partition, it is clear that the prospect of a "settlement" has become exceedingly remote. In view of recent events, it is hardly necessary to point out that Ulster is more determined than ever not to submit to a Parliament in Dublin.

SOUTH LONGFORD

ELECTION.

ELECTION.

In view of the result of the South Longford election, the Government must be congratulating themselves on their prudence in postponing till next week the announcement of their new "settlement" of the Irish problem, says the Morning Post, because South Longford has, in effect, created "a new situation." In a constituency which has been, from its beginning, the undisputed appanage of the Nationalist Party, a candidate who stood, first of all, for the repudiation and overthrow of that Party, has been elected after a contest in which apathy at least cannot be pleaded in extenuation of defeat. A clean break with this country, and the establishment of an Irish Republic—that is what the victors of South Longford stand for, and they have the honesty to confess their aims. They leave no scope for the insidious cant and odious clap-trap by which the still unconsummated "union of hearts" was promoted. They strip Irish Nationalism of its unrealities, and British Radicalism of its self-deceptions. They let us all know exactly where we stand, and that is, in this matter of Ireland, a very substantial gain. Unwittingly, the victors of South Longford, like those of South Roscommon, have rendered a signal service to the cause which they most desire to rmin—the cause of the Longford, like those of South Roscommon, have rendered a signal service to the cause which they most desire to ruin—the cause of the British Empire. Henceforth, only folly or treachery can talk of attempting to "satisfy Irish sentiment," and of "governing Ireland according to Irish ideas," for it is now indisputable that that sentiment and those ideas are incompatible with the retention of any link between Ireland and Great Britain. After South Longford, even the most infatuate of our politicians must recognise that the misguided attempts to touch the Irish question at this time has been an inexcusable blunder.

A DISAPPOINTING ELECTION. Ireland, says the London Daily Express, is a jigsaw puzzle, which no man appears able to put together. The South Longford election has resulted in the return of the Sinn Fein candi-THE SUBMARINE MENAGE.

As to the submarine situation, he gave the figures of British tonnage sunk month by month since last August, and gave an encouraging account of the methods adopted to meet sent majority over his rival. If reason and commonsense were against him, sentiment was on his side. Ireland sometimes says what she feels, but she rarely says what she means. There is really no cause to anticipate failure if the Government now bring in its straightforward plan.

The position is not spoiled beyond retrieving, asserts the Daily Chronicle. The Redmondite Party is still the etrongest political organisation in Ireland. Even in South Longford, with every circumstance of time and place telling against it, its seat was nearly held. But there is no time to lose. Mr. Lloyd George's long-expected statement must not be again deferred, and it is supremely important this ichards. supremely important that it should not leave things as they are.

BLOW TO THE NATIONALIST PARTY.

The blow to Mr. Redmond's Party, and to the rospects of the constitutional Home Rule movement is of the heaviest, declares the Daily relegraph. It falls with scarcely less force upon all in this country who have hoped against hope, through all the errors and the tragedy of these last years, for the attainment of an Irish settlement, and the removal of the one outstanding failure of statesmanship in the record our self-governing Empire, Mr. Redmond saw and seized, in a manner which won the re-spect of all British parties, the opportunity which presented itself at the outbreak of the war. By what forces of mischief, on the one side, and blind mismanagement on the other,

LIBERIA JOINS THE ALLIES.

GERMANY'S LAST FOOTHOLD IN Reuter's Agency is informed that the Liberian Minister in London has received the following telegram from the Liberian Government:—
"Monrovia.—Liberia on 8th severed relations with the Imperial German Government. Exequatur of German representative revoked. Liberia's attitude one of sympathetic co-operation with United States and Allied Governments. This has been officially announced to all Allied Governments."

The Minister informed Reuter's representative that Liberia had for a long time been considering this step, as the people were desirous of freeing themselves from German influence, which had always stood in the way of Liberia's for nothing else than the fact that it would mean the final disappearance of Germany from the African Continent.

The Liberian representative in Germany is Consul General Dinklage, who is one of the officials of the Woermann line of steamers to GERMANY'S

NATIONALIST MEMBERS AND THE ELECTION.

The Press Association says:—It was well known by Nationalist members at Westminster that the parties in South Longford were at least very evenly matched, and the return of the Sinn Fein candidate by a small majority caused little surprise. Those members who may been at work in the constituency, and they include Mr. Dillon and Mr. Devlin, expressed the

DEALING WITH THE SUBMARINES.

The following report of the proceedings at the Secret Session of the House of Common yesterday was officially issued late last night:-The House, having resolved itself into Com Mr. Churchill, who dealt with the general mili-tary and naval situation, with special reference to the position of Russia, the development of the struggle on the Western Front, the strength of the United States, and questions arising out of the submarine attacks.

The losses of personniel and material were commented upon, and the general diplomatic situation in the Balkans was discussed. Suggestions were made for meeting the sub-marine danger, and further information was asked for as to marine losses and food supply.

General PAGE CROFT and Mr. WARDLE

THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT. The PRIME MINISTER dealt seriatim and The PRIME MINISTER deat scriation and fully with the points raised by Mr. Churchill. He commented upon the internal situation of Austria, and the military position of Germany in respect of her reserves, contrasting it unfavourably with our own. He cited the opinions of our military chiefs, as well as those of the French, in satisfaction at the results of the recent combined military operations on the Western Front. Turning, then, to the demands of the War Office for further reserves, be explained how it was proposed to satisfy them.

THE SUBMARINE MENACE.

THE FOOD PROSPECT.

Upon the question of food, the Prime Minister pointed out that with judicious economy in consumption, and increased productivity of home supplies, there need be no alarm as to starvation in this country, and that in 1918 we should be self supporting. There appeared to him to be no necessity to restate the war aims of the Allies, which were well-known, and were the same as have been well-known, and were the same as have been repeatedly stated during the last two years.

MR. ASQUITH AND SECRECY. Mr. Asquith, following, expressed his full agreement with the Prime Minister, but deprecated the secrecy of the sitting, in which he affirmed that hardly anything had been said which could not have been said openly, and he concluded by inviting the Prime Minister to publish to the country the greater part of his speech.

The following members also spoke—Commander Wedgwood, Mr. Noel Buxton, Mr. Evelyn Cecil, Mr. Arthur Richardson, Mr. Penry Williams, Sir Leo Money, Sir Rylaud Adkins, Mr. Ronald McNeill, Lord Robert Cecil, and Brigadier-General Seely.

Mr. George Russell ("A.E."), in his reply, says that he is in entire sympathy with the views put forward in the appeal, and hopes that all Irishmen will agree to share the same political free.

The names of a number of other gentlemen n various parts of the country who desire to dentify themselves with the manifesto are also coted.

The Drogheda Board of Guardians have unanimously passed a resolution endorsing the protest made by the bishops against partition, and calling upon the public bodies to do bishowise. Yesterday hundreds of people in Dungarvan signed their names to a protest which has been drawn up in the town. The list will remain open for signatures at the Town Hall until the end of the present week.

THE FEIS CEOIL. THE FOURTH DAY.

THE FOURTH DAY.

Yesterday was the fourth day of the Feis Ceoil in Dublin. Its outstanding event was the Bolian Glee Singers' complete success in winning the first prizes in the three competitions of choral societies which they had entered.

The competition of organists took place in the Masonic Hall. Only one player had entered in the Junior Division, and he was awarded the first prize. Afterwards nine older organists competed with one another, having to play Bach's Fuge in D major, the Adagic Expressivo from Esposito's op. 60, and a piece at sight. The outcome was that Mr. Archer Thornton had the prize. Other instrumentalists were put to DIED OF WOUNDS.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Processive from Esposito's op. 60, and a piece at sight. The outcome was that Mr. Archer Thornton had the prize. Other instrumentalists were put to the test in the Supper Room of the Mansion House. Miss Nancy Mackey was the sole harpist whose years were fewer than 18, and to the rolt fell the premium. Of the five couples who competed in the violin and pianoforte duet, Miss Muriel Starkie and Miss Rachel Levin came out first. Their proof was Dr. Esposito's Sonata in G. A competition of four senior trios of pianoforte and violancello left Miss Eyro's first. The award in the Junior Instrumental Trio was in favor of Miss Muriel Goodman's players. Only Miss Kathleen Andrews and Miss Dinah Copena, played the violoncello and pianoforte duet, and they qualified for the first prize.

The competition of meszo-sopranes took the forenoon and afternoon in the Round Room the Mansion House. Those singers numbered 41, and were, not few of them, of tended them, which ensued reveal any singer whom Mr. Pierpoint praised unreservedly. The singers' accompanist was Mr. H. Loretto. Their songs were Sarjeant's setting of "Blow, Blow, thou Winter Wind," Stanford's "Trottin' to the Fair," and a piece at sight. After three of the competitors had sung twice Mr. Themas Duignan was adjudged worthy of a second prize.

There was a large audience in the Round Room at night, when the choral competitions took place. The Eolian Glee Singers, who were conducted by Mr. Thomas Weaving, won the second Cosslett-Heller Cup II. and the the second Cosslett-Heller Cup II. and the Griffith Cup, with three first prizes. Madamo Cosslett-Heller and Miss Griffith afterwards presented their cups to the winning conductor. The Dundealgan Choral Society, whose conductor is Mr. Van Craen, also was awarded a first prize.

FINANCIAL NEWS LONDON STOCK MARKETS RATHER WEAK.

MARKETS QUIET WITH EASIER TEN-DENCY, DUNLOPS HIGHER, BUT LESS ANIMATED. PRICES GENERALLY LOWER. ADVERSE VIEW OF RUSSIAN

DUBLIN, TRURSDAY EVENING.

There was really no special feature on the Dublin Stock Exchange to-day beyond the continued activity and strength in Dunlop securities, which scored fresh gains on further support from the other side. Herweries and Distilleries tended upwards, and in all cases higher prices were established. The Funds show occasional lossee. In the Bank section the only change was a fall of \(\frac{1}{2}\) to \(\frac{1}{4}\) in Hibernians. Bank Stock as 190 changed hands at last price, but only to a limited extent. Higher prices obtained for Broweries and Distilleries dealt in. Dublin Distillers belts, rase \(\frac{1}{2}\), and Guinness Ord. and John Jameson and Son Debs. \(\frac{1}{2}\) each. As regards Home Rails, "Wicklow" Ord remain at 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) London and North Western Pref. fell 1 to 77. Cork and Bandon Guaranteed 4 p.c. closed sellers at 65, compared with 73 the previous marking. Midland Great Western 4 p.c. Pref. roee 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) to 5\(\frac{1}{2}\), but the \(\frac{1}{2}\) p.c. Debs. fell 1 to 77. Cork and Bandon Guaranteed 4 p.c. closed sellers at 65, compared with 73 the previous marking. Midland Great Western 4 p.c. Pref. roee 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) to 5\(\frac{1}{2}\), but the \(\frac{1}{2}\) p.c. Debs. fell 1 to 77. There was not so much general support for Dunlop issues, but higher prices were once more obtained for practically all business done. Parent Tyre Ord, rose 1s. to 2\(\frac{1}{2}\), to 5\(\frac{1}{2}\), but the pref. 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) to 2\(\frac{1}{2}\), to 5\(\frac{1}{2}\), but the pref. 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) to 2\(\frac{1}{2}\), and the Fours, at HOME RAILS DECLINE. HOME RAILS DECLINE.

There was not sufficient support in the Home Railway market to keep the list firm, and quotations sagged off here and there on very light realising. Many of the Trunk and there on very light realising. Many of the Trunk and In Trade Stocks again market falls of \(\frac{1}{4}\) to \(\frac{1}{4}\). In the Passenger section, though the tendency was adverse, losses were less frequent.

AMERICANS LOWER. Americans were lower from New York, and there was no disposition among quotations to recover the parity set-back. Several stocks lost i to 1 on balance, and Eries, at 26, were 12 CANADIANS STEADY; MEXICANS RALLY. CANADIANS STEADY; MEXICANS RALLY.
Canadian Pacifics, despite the heaviness of Yankees, held steady around 174½. Grand Trunk Stocks marked a fresh slump in the morning, but afterwards rallied. Junior stocks on balance were ½ to ½ down, while the lst Pref. lost 1. Mexican Railway Ord. drooped ½ to 17½, and there were some fractional falls among Argentine Rails. Buenos Ayres Great Southerns, at 75½, shed a full point.

NARROW DEALINGS IN INDUSTRIALS.

In the Miscellaneous and Industrial market dealings for the most part were within a narrow compass. In the Armament section, Pease and Partners weakened † to 15 and Kynocha shed † to 1½. Cargo Flects gained the turn at 19/-. Cements were back † to 3½. Land Shares did not attract much attention. Pekin Shansis were marked forward ½ to 1. Brazilian Tractions were also on the firm side. Mexican Tractions were also no the firm side. Mexican Tractions were also to 17/6 in Liptons. Lyous receded † Lossing at 3½. Harrods were down to 56/104, but closed around 58/-. Selfridge Pref. held around 20/-. British-American Tobacco closed at 98/6, having been 1/- either side of that level. Coats did not vary among Textiles, but Courtaulds were bought, and rose † to 6+½. Bank Shares were slow. OIL SHARES FIRM. Shares were less in evidence, but their tone

MINING MARKET INACTIVE. There was no sign of pronounced activity in the ining market, but the Diamond group, among ath Africans, was strong unter the lead of Desers, and Kaffirs were a steady market, though thing in briskness. Rhodesians showed no produced tendency either way. Westralians were tiet and Russians showed a drooping tendency, moug base metal shares, Nigerias were firm on a rther jump of 25 15/- per ton in the price of tin, it copper was unchanged.
